

VEM

The vibration equalization unit has the same job like to WEM to distribute filling goods in powder form and granulate materials steadily in a level bag.

In contrast to the roller equalization no pressure on the filling material is exerted at the work and therefore share filling property can be also product saving distributed in the bag. For example products like dried vegetables or pasta.

The vibration and the speed of the belt are regulated individually and so nearly adjusted optimally on every filling property.

